Solve the grids. Use the "star" location in each column to select a glyph, upper glyphs from the upper grid and lower glyphs from the lower grid. They will form these Iotan characters:

Arrange the artifacts as shown by the diagrams, forming each character along the arrow's path. Then read the letters corresponding to the arrow, skipping the first and last glyphs. Write letters on the artifacts to spell answers to the clues: STRANGER, ADMIRING, GLIMPSED, SEDATION, HANDRAIL, GLITTERY, SEPARATE, ASTERISK.

Then arrange the pieces into an asterisk, forming the characters above. When you read the letters next to the glyphs, they spell: STARS ALIGNED.

I've already deciphered these glyphs. They translate to WORKADAY.
It seems like the other glyph sequences also represent eight-letter words.
